

Contents of a UKCA Declaration of Conformity

The information required on the Declaration of Conformity will largely be the same as what is currently required on an EU Declaration of Conformity. This can vary depending on the application legislation but generally should include:

- Name and full business address
- The product's serial number, model, or type identification.
- A statement, stating they take full responsibility for the product's compliance.
- The details of the UKCA approved body which carried out the conformity assessment procedure (if applicable).
- The relevant UK legislation with which the product complies (not EU Directives).
- UK designated standards (not the standards cited in the Official Journal of the European Union).
- Name and signature.
- The date the declaration was issued.
- Supplementary information (if applicable) such as the UKCA Category, gas Group, Temperature Class etc.
